TRANSCRIBER'S NOTES - JACKSON LEDGER @ HCPD

Transcribed by Jane Jackson Kimble; Proofread by Karen Kimble Horne

TRANSCRIBING METHOD

This transcription was made from a copy of P. A. Jackson's notes. I have no knowledge of the 1887 original. My copy came from the Hacker's Creek Pioneer Descendants Library. I have not been able to determine who P. A. Jackson is, though possibly a descendant of Martha Jane Bassel Jackson.

The pages were extremely difficult to read as they are copies of copies and the handwriting was that of an earlier day. Capital "L" and capital "S" were so similar that they may have been misread.

The Ledger is originally 87 small pages with two blank pages. I have indicated the original page numbers in the text on the left hand side. The historical comments are regular text; the lists of children are kept listed and indented. The numbers by each individual are the actual numbers of the original author except where I have added [#] for clarity.

In places where the word was completely illegible I have indicated by _____. Where the author has used (), I have also used that. When I felt it necessary to add my comment, I have used []. There are two distinct handwritings in the Ledger as someone has added information, or as on page 16, corrected the original. I have indicated the second handwriting by using italics on those words.

I have tried to keep the spelling as it is in the original Ledger even when it appears inconsistent within the document itself. I have made notes when dates appear inconsistent; as on page 48, Narcissa Jackson was originally dated 1849. The second handwriting wrote over the 1849, making it 1847; but didn't make the same edit on page 50.

The different handwriting at the end of the Ledger (shown in italics) indicates someone other than the original author has added certain information.

The names in the Ledger for which no clear connection is made are not included in the descendants data file. A search engine is provided on the Home Page to help you find names that may not be in the data file. And since many names are repeated on various pages, the search engine should be helpful to find all the references. Please contact me if you know of errors in the Ledger which should not be put in the data base. SCROLL ON DOWN to read of individual problems we know about.

2. PROBLEMS WITH DATA

A. A major problem that we find with the data is that the author has made an effort to connect these Jacksons with the Jackson line descending from John Jackson and Elizabeth Cummins (Stonewall's line). Further research has helped us determine that this is not the case. We have found only one instance of a marriage between persons in the two lines; that of Susan Hannah Jackson and John Columbus Jackson. Determining who is in which Jackson line is understandably difficult as there were two Edward Jacksons that both located in Harrison County, Virginia (now WV) at the same time. Both family lines were highly esteemed and prolific, many carrying the same names. Add to that the fact that nearly every family named a son John and we had a puzzle of major proportions.

There is mentioned on page 12 of a cousin of Edward's named John, who had sons, George W. and Edward. I believe that there is ample proof that the John mentioned with his sons, is the Stonewall Jackson family line. John was Stonewall's great grandfather and Edward (listed as John's son) is his grandfather, while George is his uncle. Two sources that I believe that are credible and well researched are found at Virginia Military Institute's site, <http://www.vmi.edu/content.aspx?id=5005> and the Jackson Brigade, a site dedicated to the Stonewall Jackson line at <http://www.jacksonbrigade.com/genealogy-of-john-jackson/col-edward-jackson/>.

Pages 42, 79, 80 & 83 all speak of a John, son of John and Elizabeth Cummings (sic). I have come to understand this is not our line of Jacksons. But the author of the Ledger did believe there was a connection and convinced his/her family of that; so much so that information to that effect on page 52 of the Ledger says "Gave J. L. Young short sketch for Dr. Brooks for Virginia and Virginians," a book of Virginia biographies. So this [erroneous] belief was published and has been used by many as a source for their genealogy research. [A copy of this biography with footnotes annotating the problem areas written by a knowledgeable family member is available on this site.] On page 83, a later author, still believing that there was a connection between the two lines, has written (shown in italics) of John Jackson and Elizabeth Cummins.

B. On page 5, writing of John, son of Robert, the author has written that this John was married twice; once to Elizabeth Hallet and secondly to Elizabeth Seaman. This is a problem area and is covered in detail in the section on Conflicting Data.

C. On page 21, "Jane Jackson married Benjamin Arnold, a cousin." And on page 15, Benjamin married "Jane Jackson, daughter of Ben & granddaughter of Samuel, son of Edward Jackson". But according to my calculations, Jane was Ben's sister and daughter of Samuel, who was son of Edward.

D. Page 83/84 the lineage for Col. Joseph Jackson appears to leave out a generation. The Ledger does not mention him except on this page. See the data section for this missing generation.

Other known errors in dates or locations have been corrected in the database. So enjoy the Ledger, it may have info not in the database, but always compare info from the Ledger with the database. Even with problems, this Ledger has so much connecting data; not only Jacksons, but other related, connecting families, that it is a treasure to find. Enjoy digging!

Jackson Family

John Jackson from Hertfordshire, England was one of the expedition of 1627 for the relief of the Huguenots of La Rochelle and believed to be the father of Robert Jackson, the first of the name known to have come to America. Robert Jackson left England with John Winthrop 1630 - 31 but which John Winthrop is not known. In with the Massachusetts Bay C, he doubtless was one of the 900 who sailed from Yarmouth on the 7th April 1630. At any rate the Coat of Arms of his family was emblazoned with two greyhounds and a dolphin crested with a mailed arm raising from a m[issal?], in the hand a tilting spear.

Page 2 If we seek one reason for his coming to this country we may find many. At that time, the industry of the people was oppressed by irregular and exorbitant taxation and untimely interferences not in accord with the general intelligence of that period. Merchants found no protection from pirates or robbers. Landowners were greatly annoyed by inquiries and examinations into their titles and even the greatest in the land were liable to be heavily fined and probably imprisoned for any malfeasance of thought or action differing from prevailing customs. Charles I always wanted more money to gratify his selfish tastes and he tried to rule as autocratically as the king of France so between the demands of the King and the oppression of all who were not Roman Catholic, those of a different opinion had but little showing. We may also imagine the enticement of immense

Page 3 fortune and the privilege of worshipping God after the dictates of his own conscience held out to say nothing of personal entreaties from those of his friends who had made up their minds to go.

We find Robert Jackson in 1644 one of the first settlers of Hempstead, which was the first English settlement made on the West end of Long Island, under the jurisdiction of and by permission of the Dutch government, and he was closely associated with Rev. Richard Denton a graduate of Cambridge and we find him leading in subscriptions to his support. He must have been a man of means and high standing in the colony since his name frequently appears in the records of the town as magistrate referee etc.

After the capture of New York by the English in 1664 he was one of the deputies from Hempstead to the convention which met in that place (Hempstead) early the following year. This convention

Page 4 was called to meet at Hempstead for the purpose of framing a code of laws suitable to English people, and it is said Robert favored as the body of the new law what was known as the "Duke's Laws" and that his views prevailed. His will can be found recorded in Book A of Deeds in Queens County Clerk's office and is the oldest there recorded being dated May 25th 1683. This will was proved October 13, 1685 and he therein provides for Agnes, his sons John and Samuel, his daughter, Sarah who had married a Nathaniel Moore and provision is also made for the child of Mrs. Martha Jackson Cole – she having died a few years previous. The children of Robert and Agnes Jackson so far as known were:

1. John married Hallet
2. Martha married Cole
3. Samuel married but supposed to have died without any issue.
4. Sarah married Moore

Page 5 John Jackson according to the law of primogeniture inherited most of his father's estate, and was one of the patentees of the town of Hempstead under the patent granted by Gov. Dongan in 1685 and the last surveyor of land included in this grant. He was sheriff of Queens Co. from 1691 – 1695 and was one of the largest land owners in that county. Was a member of the Assembly from 1693 – 1709 and also Col. of the Militia. He was twice married – 1st to Elizabeth Hallet, a daughter of Samuel Hallet of Hallet's Cove and grand daughter of William Hallet of Dorsetshire, England who moved to Greenwich, Conn. He married second Elizabeth Seaman. [error! see Notes] He made his will Aug. 26, 1724 and died in 1725. He left the following children:

1. John 6. Hannah
2. James 7. Martha and Mary, twins
3. Sarah
4. Samuel
5. Elizabeth

Page 6 James Jackson – son of Col. John Jackson – married Rebecca Hallet (born Aug 31, 1675) daughter of William & granddaughter of William Hallet from Dorsetshire England. James Jackson seems to have been a useful citizen - for in addition to being the father of twenty children he was a man generally looked to for advice and was chosen together with Col. Isaac Hicks as referee in a dispute between Massachusetts & Rhode Island relative to the boundary line between them. The Colony of Rhode Island was so well pleased with their conduct and endeavor to reconcile the people of the two governments that it voted each of them a Silver Tankard of L50 value with the arms of the Colony handsomely engraved thereon. James and Rebecca Jackson had 20 children - 18 of whom were living at the time of their mother's death. His will bears

Page 7 date of Sept. 27, 1735 and he died early in October. The will proven Oct 26, 1735 and can be found on record in New York City, in Surrogate's Office Libr 12, p 362 - 366 of Wills.

The children were:

1. Thomas Jackson Born Dec 4, 1694
whose son Thos. it is thought settled in Eastern Virginia.
 2. Mary Jackson (married Townsend) Born Nov. 20, 1695
 3. Sarah Jackson Born Dec. 11, 1697

 13. Joseph Jackson Born Feb 9, 1710 [see pg 9]
 14. Richard Jackson Born March 20, 1711
 15. Phebe Jackson (married Randell) Born May 3, 1712
 16. Robert Jackson Born May 15, 1713
 17. Jemima Jackson (married Hicks) Born Nov. 25, 1714
 18. Samuel Jackson Born July 21, 1716
 19. Stephen Jackson Born Aug. 17, 1717
 20. Benjamin Jackson Born July 26, 1719

[Below this list on page 8 is a drawing; repeated twice. It looks like it may be the crest of Jackson family as described on the first page.]

Page 9 Joseph Jackson (No. 13 from James) (born Feb 9, 1710) Moved at an early day to Morris Co., N. J. – probably when about 21 years old and before the Indians had left. Gentleman Wm. N____ds conveyed to Joseph Jackson on Sept 17, 1759, a tract of 162 6/10 acres of land lying on the West Bank of Rockaway River and near the village of Rockaway on which he lived until his death in 1769. He acquired other property of great value. Joseph & Ann Jackson had eleven children:

1. James Jackson Died at 21 years.
2. William Jackson finally settled in Tenn. prior to the Revolution & raised nineteen out of 26 children.
3. Elizabeth Jackson married James Tompkins and removed to Virginia
4. Mary Jackson died about 16.
5. Stephen Jackson [1] died in infancy
6. Capt. Stephen Jackson (2)
7. Anna Jackson Born Aug. 9, 1746, married (1st) Robert Ayres (2) Josiah Beaman.
8. Edward Jackson Born 1741 married Martha Miller and removed with Stephen, Samuel and Jemima to Fayette Co. Pa. and thence to Harrison Co, Va. [see pg 12]
9. Phebe Jackson died at Rockaway
10. Benjamin Jackson Born March 5, 1752 Removed to Ohio & died there in June 6, 1842. Went to Ohio 1814.
11. Daniel Jackson who died in Ohio – aged 84.

Ann Jackson, widow of Joseph Jackson, survived him and married (2) Deacon Garrigus & died about 1793. She was sort of small stature but very bright and full of energy.

Page 11 Benjamin Jackson b. 1752 [s/o Jos & Ann] Bellville, Ohio (Richland County)

He married Aug. 20, 1774 Abigail Mitchell. Their Children:

1. Zeba Jackson Born Feb. 2, 1777 Died in Ohio
2. Isaac Jackson Born Jan. 15, 1779 Died in King County, O[hio?]
3. Elizabeth Jackson Born Feb 14, 1782 & married Job Allen. One of Elizabeth Jackson's sons, Isaac Allen, was minister to Hong Kong, China.
4. Phebe Jackson Born June 23, 1784; died 1889 at the age of 104, 11 months, 26 days at Union Grove Township, Whiteside Co., Illinois 1st married Isaac Lewis; 2nd married John Vennum
5. David Jackson Born Sept 30, 1786 & was living in Columbia, Ind. a few years ago.

Page 12 Edward Jackson (No. 4) [s/o of Jos & Ann] married Martha Miller. It is thought that not only his wife and three children accompanied him but that his cousins - John (and his sons Geo. W. and Edward) and probably his sister Elizabeth & brother William, all left New Jersey together. They probably made the trip to New Castle, Del. together. After that it seems Edward and family – John (son of John 1701) & family traveled westward & William and family and Elizabeth Thompkins & family came South. There is mention of land being transferred from _____ to Ed Jackson in 1791. Children of Edward and Martha Miller Jackson:

1. Jemina, Born 1762 married John Arnold. She died in Harrison Co 1828 [see pg 15]
- Page 13 [see pg 18]
 2. Stephen Jackson Born July 31, 1764 married Elizabeth Pomeroy
 3. Samuel Jackson Born _____ married Smith [see pgs 21 & 27]
 4. Benjamin Jackson Got a fall early in life from which he died
 5. Phebe Jackson married Stout [see pg 22]
 6. Mary (Polly) Jackson twice married
1st Lewis Flint, after his death she married Geo [large question mark by his first name] Bush. They lived on the waters of Freeman's Creek above the Jackson Mill.
Went west started to Miami Valley.

Page 14 Edward Jackson's wife died whilst on a visit to Mrs. Polly Bush & as there were no bridges at that early date and Hacker's Creek and other streams were so much swollen by rain that they could not cross. We have good reason to believe that part of the flyleaf in the Bible from which other names were gotten contained possibly the names of other children. We think it possible there was a Lucy who married a Flesher and Sallie who may have married a Flesher or Hughes or she may have been twice married. There is a family of Flesher's who claim to trace to a Jackson woman related to Edward Jackson and they think a daughter of Edward. There was possibly a William or Jacob but it requires better evidence to positively substantiate.

Stephen Jackson [s/o Edward & Martha] b. July 31, 1764 Near Dover; d. 1847 New Jersey, Married Elizabeth Pomeroy

Page 18 Stephen married Elizabeth Pomeroy on Feb. 14, 1787. She died April 1852 at grandmother Hannah [Bailey] Jackson's in Jane Lew. She passed away without a long illness. She and her husband are resting on a farm owned at present by cousin Ida Bassel Fleming and very near the home of Grandfather Benjamin Bassel. Grandmother Elizabeth's brother settled the city of Pomeroy, O[ho]. She was a kind, good woman and small in stature. She was once captured by the Indians in New Jersey. Stephen Jackson, shrewd & a fearless Indian fighter and at the early age of 17 was on his way to join his father with Washington's forces. He was present at the battle of Yorktown and wounded before he was 18 years old. Edward Jackson and two sons, Stephen and Samuel were [pg torn] in the battle of Yorktown. [corner of pg torn] both Stephen and his father

Page 19 were wounded there. Stephen Jackson was also in the War of 1812. I heard this from the lips of Hon. Wm. Currence Carper, the husband of Aunt Martha Bassel White. Steve saw service in this war along with an uncle of Wm. C. Carper. My grandfather Jackson remembers his Grandmother wanting Steve to apply for a pension but he said "dam it" he fought for his country.

Children of Stephen and Elizabeth [Pomeroy] Jackson

1. Martha (Aunt Patty) Jackson b. Feb 19, 1788 married John Thompson
2. Stephen Pomeroy Jackson b. Jan 1789 married Hannah Bailey daughter of Minter and Nancy Norris Bailey

B. Bassel born Feb 16, 1785 died Mch. 14, 18??

4. Mary Jackson b. 1792 married a Tyson. They lived on Elk – near Fairfield but from there moved to Ohio. It seems that Mr. Tyson was a peddler – with only his one horse wagon and effects and Mary was told if she married Tyson she would be cut off as one of the heirs of the family. Owing to this circumstance Mary & her descendants are today unknown to the relatives.

1. Mary
2. Elias & Others.

Very little is known of Wm. Jackson and his children except that they lived on Sycamore in Harrison County until they determined to go West. They started to the Little Miami Valley, Ohio—Early in 1800 but since that nothing has been learned. Recent investigation at Winchester, Ky finds a Romulus & W. D. Jackson who trace to their father Elias & grandfather William which is the nearest trace yet obtained.

Jacob Jackson (son of Edward) married, then went West-possibly settled in Ohio and raised a family.

Page 44 Stephen Jackson [s/o Edward & Martha] Born July 31, 1764 Married Elizabeth Pomeroy & the site of Pomeroy, Ohio should have descended to her heirs. Stephen was a Captain of a company –although never commissioned [not commissioned until 1807] – and was wounded at the battle of Yorktown & so was his father Edward. He did valuable service under Washington as a scout – making several trips to the Ohio River. He only had a plain education but was noted for his power of deciding quickly and filling to the letter all his promises.

He had many encounters with and killed several Indians. Several of the encounters are still spoken of by relatives in the different branches of the family. He generally wore a hunting shirt – which was about the same as the Page 45 Norfolk Blouse of the present day except they were made by the house-wife from goods now called lindsey.

Capt Stephen Jackson married Feb 14, 1787

Stephen Pomroy Jackson Born 1789 Died Dec 17, 1847/49. He married 1820 Hannah Bailey, Daughter of Minter and Nancy Norris Bailey.

Hannah Bailey Jackson Born Nov 7, 1793 Died Feb. 25, 1854.

They both lived useful lives and were most highly esteemed by all who knew them. They lived in the town of Jane Lew and more to keep from being imposed upon than as a source of profit they kept hotel.

Page 46 He was Major of Militia. An office not of his own seeking and expressed himself when asked to run for the legislature as opposed to accepting any office that would take him out of his county.

He went to Texas just before the war of the Confederacy began and had bought up a large number of horses and cattle in partnership with Byron Bassel – but owned the larger portion of them. He enlisted in the Confederate Army – was captured at Fort Donaldson and sent a prisoner to Camp. Had he have lived he would have been married to Lucy Goodloe a sister to Grandma. After the war he returned to Texas and had just gotten his affairs in good shape and went on with a party of friends & citizens to watch [for] a party of Indians who had been killing their and stealing their horses – and getting in a skirmish he was killed by the ball from the gun of an Indian -- April 21, 1868.
